

Public Works Director Harvey Amerson

Harvey Amerson began his career at Camden County in 1974 as a deputy sheriff. In 1985, Harvey was appointed as the Building Projects and Grants Coordinator responsible for administering the new county buildings construction program. He also managed the Community Impact Assistance program.

Harvey has served in other capacities with the County prior to his current role. He was a previous Road Superintendent from 1993-1996 before returning to building projects again in 1996 for another building program.

Harvey's new role as Public Works Director began in January, 2014. Some of his responsibilities include managing our Roads and Bridges and acting as the County's Community Impact Coordinator.

Harvey and his wife Denise, a lifelong resident of Camden County, reside in Woodbine.
