

Camden County Tax Commissioner – Beth Soles

Beth Soles has over 24 years of work experience in the Tax Commissioners office. She began her career with Camden County as a tag clerk in 1991, later becoming Tax Commissioner in 2007.

Trained at the Carl Vinson Institute for Government at the University of Georgia, Beth has specializations in Property Tax Exemptions; Mobile Home Collections; Penalties and Interest Computations and Waivers; Basic Bankruptcy; Digest Preparation Advertisement and Submission; Motor Vehicle Titling and Registration; Personal Property Collections; Final Accounting; Records Retention; Budget Preparation; Timber Taxation; and many additional laws pertaining to motor vehicle and property taxation.

Beth is a true innovator in her profession. She is responsible for instituting on-line car tag renewal and on-line property tax payments by using debit and credit cards. In addition, she created a Facebook page to help keep citizens informed on law changes and important information that affects every taxpayer. Beth was also instrumental in forming a County Tax Commissioners Website that offers convenient access to information pertaining to titling and registering vehicles, property tax procedures, and all tax exemptions available to taxpayers.

Beth is a member of the Georgia Association of Tax Officials, the Constitutional Officers Association, and the Camden Tax Dispute Committee.

She is a lifelong resident of Camden County who resides in Kingsland with her husband and two children, a son and a daughter.
