FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Camden County has ICC Certified Inspector

WOODBINE, GEORGIA – June 23, 2015 – In March of this year Camden County hired Joey Yacobacci as the County Building Inspector. Having his Georgia contractor's license and a history in building construction Joey brought a wealth of knowledge and experience to the Planning & Development Department.

Mr. Yacobacci has quickly developed an outstanding reputation in the Camden County building community with his high level of customer service and positive attitude. On June 19th he passed his International Code Council (ICC) certification exam to become a certified residential building inspector. His goals are to continue studying to receive more certifications in the field of inspections in efforts to one day become a certified building official.

The ICC is dedicated to developing model codes and standards used in the design, build and compliance process to construct safe, sustainable, affordable and resilient structures. Most U.S. communities and many global markets choose the International Codes. The International Codes, or I-Codes, published by ICC, provide minimum safeguards for people at home, at school and in the workplace. The I-Codes are a complete set of comprehensive, coordinated building safety and fire prevention codes. Building codes benefit public safety and support the industry's need for one set of codes without regional limitations.

"We are proud to have Mr. Yacobacci on our team, I look forward to hearing about his future successes," said County Administrator, Steve Howard. "I am confident that we are moving Camden County forward in a positive manner."

Planning and Development Director, Eric Landon said, “Joey has been a wonderful addition to the County. His positive attitude is contagious and best demonstrated during his interactions with the public. He makes the Planning and Development Office a better place to work and do business.”

About International Code Council: The International Code Council (ICC) was established in 1994 as a non-profit organization dedicated to developing a single set of comprehensive and coordinated national model construction codes. The founders of the ICC are Building Officials and Code Administrators International, Inc. (BOCA), International Conference of Building Officials (ICBO), and Southern Building Code Congress International, Inc. (SBCCI). Since the early part of the last century, these non-profit organizations developed three separate sets of model codes used throughout the United States. Although regional code development has been effective and responsive to our country’s needs, the time came for a single set of codes. The nation’s three model code groups responded by creating the International Code Council and by developing codes without regional limitations; the International Codes
